IN SEARCH OF SPEED

The State of Enterprise Applications

- 72% of applications are used every day, which means they're essential to daily operations.
- 57% of developers spend more than 50% of their time debugging.
- 55% of IT teams are concerned about the speed of their applications.

Here's what we discovered:

- 72% of applications are used every day, which means they're essential to daily operations.
- 57% of developers spend more than 50% of their time debugging.
- 55% of IT teams are concerned about the speed of their applications.

Let's Go! THE RACE TO NEW PLATFORMS.

- 73% of developers are精通 multiple platforms, and are working on projects that require them to use multiple languages.
- 25% of developers are using Docker, which means they are using a containerization tool.

How to Get There? THE LEGACY APP DRAUGHT.

- In order to move to the cloud, you need to first understand your current applications and infrastructure.
- 63% of developers are using Kubernetes, which means they are using a container orchestration tool.

GET IN THE FAST LANE

- The most successful developers are using tools that are designed for moving fast, such as Docker, Kubernetes, and Chef.
- 33% of developers are using Chef, which means they are using a configuration management tool.

Get every application moving faster and gain the flexibility to move your apps to any platform, today and in the future.

GET STARTED: www.CHEF.com/infographic/work-admin-apps